

THE PARISH OF ST. MARGARET,
INGOL

Dear Friends,

I do hope that you are all well and managing in these continuing strange circumstances? Another four weeks of restrictions to endure, but then, hopefully, we may have more freedom than before. I have to say that the current restrictions are not so bad, and I am managing to get out and see more people face to face now, which is just lovely and many of us have enjoyed communion together. What a blessing. So, life goes on despite our current situation. It is sad and somewhat worrying that the Northwest, more than other places, still seems to be an area that is suffering from virus spread; the current Delta strain seems to like us up here and is hanging around more than we would like!

All this change really has not affected us in church at all. We are still open Sundays at 10am and at 11.30 am and on Wednesdays at 10.30am and we are still doing hands, space and booking in. All are welcome, but please, you must book in as we are normally full at 10am on Sundays and may not be able to offer you a seat if you turned up on spec. There is always space at 11.30am and we do the same service then, finishing around 12.10, so plenty of time to get back for lunch and to have your coffee beforehand. Come and join us, we would love to see you, ring 01772 727208 to book a seat please.

It is good to catch up with those of you who I have been to see to date. If you would like me to bring communion to you, please let me know and I can arrange to come round. And, as ever, if you need anything, please ring.

We are still in need of a PCC secretary. This entails coming to the meetings and taking notes and a small amount of admin duties. If you feel you could help with this at all, please let me know and we can have a chat about it. Thank you.

So, stay safe everyone, I will be holding you all close in prayer.

Take care.

With my love and every blessing

Rev Rie
